Law360 (April 29, 2021, 3:29 PM EDT) -- National litigation boutique Tyson & Mendes LLP said it has added two California partners from the U.K.-based insurance defense firm Clyde & Co.

Sheryl Rosenberg and Margaret Holm have joined the firm in its Los Angeles and Orange County offices, respectively, the firm announced Monday. The announcement touted the pair's experience and said the additions would shore up Tyson & Mendes' business litigation, personal injury and medical malpractice practices.

"Clyde & Co is a global leader in the insurance defense arena, and we are thrilled that Sheryl and Margaret have decided to lend their considerable expertise to our growing team at Tyson & Mendes," Tyson & Mendes Managing Partner Robert Tyson said in a statement. "Both have impressive track records and as our firm continues its remarkable growth, we are confident that both will be invaluable assets to our team."

Rosenberg, who joins after three-plus years at Clyde & Co., focuses her practice on product liability, personal injury, harassment and abuse cases, according to the firm. She has been lead counsel in high-profile cases in both state and federal court, her firm biography noted.

Prior to joining Clyde & Co., she spent 13 years at Sedgwick LLP, according to her online resume. She is a graduate of Pepperdine University School of Law.

Holm's practice focuses on complex civil disputes, at both the trial and appellate level, for large health care entities, but she has also represented clients like national sporting associations and public entities, according to the firm. Types of cases she has handled include professional malpractice, wrongful death allegations, class actions and catastrophic injury cases.

Her firm biography indicates that she has handled more than 200 jury trials and arbitrations and has a success rate of 95% in jury verdict cases.

Holm is a graduate of Santa Clara University School of Law.
